ONGOING RESEARCH

- Patients' and residents evaluation of patient centeredness and communication skills of physicians in Jordan University Hospital.

RESEARCH INTERESTS

- I- To combat cardio metabolic syndrome.
- II- Patient centered medicine and communication skills.
- III- Problem based learning and problem solving.

I- To combat cardio metabolic syndrome:

I am interested in working in the diagnosis, prevention and management of cardio metabolic syndrome and its components during my family practice clinic time and by conducting research on cardio metabolic syndrome.

-I am the coordinator of the Jordan Coalition to Combat Cardio Metabolic Syndrome (a national committee). Started since the 25th of January, 2012 (five meetings held so far) in the faculty of medicine, the University of Jordan. With attendants from teaching staff from the University of Jordan (headed by the dean of the faculty of medicine in the University of Jordan) and Jordan University of Science and Technology and the head of the non-communicable diseases department in the Jordanian Ministry of Health . The American College of Cardiology recognized the project entitled “The International Coalition to Combat Cardio Metabolic Syndrome” as its 2012 ACC-MENA collaborative research project and named it “The Middle East Million Hearts Campaign” and Jordan will constitute a part of this project.

- Attended conferences to combat cardio metabolic syndrome:

1- Course on the "Complex management of systems failure in the cardiac patient" and workshop on "Cardio Metabolic Syndrome". Amman – Jordan (23-25/10/2011).

2- Mini summit on Cardio Metabolic Syndrome. Atlanta – USA (13-14/10/2011). In which I was a speaker about awareness regarding the metabolic syndrome and cardiovascular risks and development of self-prevention. http://halleinstitute.emory.edu/research/events_conferences/cardio_metabolic_syndrome_summit.html

3- Towards a global coalition to combat Cardio Metabolic Syndrome. A workshop and roundtable discussion. Dubai – UAE (18/4/2012) in which I am a speaker to report about the Jordan Coalition to Combat Cardio Metabolic Syndrome.

- I was an author in (14) published or accepted peer-reviewed original articles regarding cardio metabolic syndrome and its components.

II- Patient centered medicine and communication skills:

-Research: ongoing research on patients' and residents evaluation of patient centeredness and communication skills of physicians in Jordan University Hospital.

-Experience in communication skills:

1- Active member in a course in New Zealand in teaching and learning communication skills in family practice for one year.

2- A course in Queen Mary's Hospital in teaching communication skills, chosen by the faculty of medicine in

3- A course from Canada in teaching communication for ten years skills. Amman – Jordan.

4- I have been teaching communication skills for postgraduate family medicine residency.

5- I gave a course for paediatrics department (post graduate residents) teaching communication skills (5 hours).

6- I teach undergraduates (fourth year) doctor patient communication skills and reasoning skills from 2003 – 2012 in the faculty of medicine in Jordan University.

7- I teach all the students in the fifth year doctor patient communication skills when they have their rotation in our family medicine clinic (practical with patients in the clinics) as a part of their rotation, every 10 students stay for 2 weeks in the clinics 2005-2012

III- Problem based learning and problem solving:

-Research: ongoing research on the evaluation of the medical teaching program during the clinical years from the students perspective at faculty of medicine: Jordan University.
